Dear Valued China Shipping Customers,

Attached please find the China Shipping Container Lines Co., Ltd announcement pertaining to the implementation of the China Customs Advance Manifest (CCAM) rules.

In order to facilitate this CCAM requirement, China Shipping (North America) Agency will be implementing a 'no document-no load' rule. The new rule will take effect with all port terminal cut offs after June 22, 2014 and will apply to all shipments discharging or transshipping in all China ports. Please be aware of the cut-offs of your bookings and submit your shipping instructions accordingly to make sure your cargo is not detained or subjected to any additional handling charges.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter and for your continued support of China Shipping.

Sincerely,

China Shipping (North America) Agency Co., Inc.
As Agent for China Shipping Container Lines Co., Ltd.

China Customs Advance Manifest (CCAM) Rules implemented in Shanghai

27 May 2014

Dear Valued Customers,

China Customs head office has ordered all Chinese ports to stop using old manifest system and implement the new CCAM system from 30th of June 2014. No official notice has been released to carriers on enforcement of the regulations till date, however, we have received oral notice from Shanghai customs that Shanghai will enforce CCAM rules from 28th June 2014. Thus, all cargo destined to or transshipped via Shanghai should be filed manifests 24 hours before loading.

In order to meet this requirement, CSCL will implement a "No Document, No Load" policy for all shipments going into or transshipping via Shanghai(China), which means all bill of lading information must be tendered to China Shipping's POL Agent no later than the deadline published by them.

To enable smooth transportation of your shipment after CCAM enforcement in Shanghai, the following information is required in your shipping instructions.

- Exact place of delivery (UN/LOCODE code)
- The name and address for shipper and consignee (notify party is necessary when TO ORDER B/L)
- Container Number
- Detailed Cargo description
- Number of packages
- Cargo gross weight
- Seal number
- UN number and IMDG code where applicable

If the full information can't be provided to customs before deadline, Shanghai Customs will issue DO NOT LOAD (DNL) instruction and it will cause the extra fees.

More information about CCAM can be retrieved from following websites:
